Message from our Pastor:

Hello everyone! I hope your week has been wonderful.

In case you didn't know, next Saturday is Halloween. It used to be a favorite for me as a kid. I was determined to get absolutely as much candy as possible when I would go trick-or-treat. My friend and I would literally run from house to house!

The context of Halloween allows me to speak of something I have noticed in the culture. Maybe you have noticed it as well...I know you have if you have kids.

It is the fascination of our culture with Zombies! Isn't it a strange thing???? There are movies about it, video games, tv shows...etc. "Get ready for the zombie apocalypse." I even had a high school kid come up to me and ask me, "so are zombies really real?" I almost had to knock him upside the head. This was at a Catholic High School!!!

While it is no doubt a goofy fascination that is dotted our culture today and no doubt one that will pass, I think it speaks to something more significant. The intrigue and goofy fascination with something as ridiculous as zombies indicates a deeper curiosity people have today: namely a desire to know what the after-life is actually about.

If you were raised in a Catholic culture, then you are more familiar with the cult of the dead. As Catholics we have birthdays to celebrate dead saints, feast days to recall dead souls (All Souls), novenas to pray for the dead in purgatory, prayers to St Michael to throw the devil into hell (the Saint Michael Prayer), and the list goes on.

What is happening now-a-days is that a culture which has become more and more secular (meaning 'devoid of spiritual considerations) is still longing for and curious about what happens when we die, what happens to the dead, what is the thing inside of us that is beyond just our physical makeup. So in the absence of the truth that God has revealed through our Church (namely, that we have souls, that they go somewhere when we die, that they are incorporeal, etc.), the culture is left to create/fabricate something. They need something. Unfortunately it is goofy and quite ridiculous.

There are no zombies. I had to break it to the high school senior...who was disappointed. But there are spirits. Lots of them. You have one. You are one. So is everyone else. There are even angels too!

Have a good Halloween and don't eat too much candy.

Fr. Rossi

The Virginia Catholic Conference has created a Voters' Guide for upcoming General Assembly elections to help voters identify contested races and engage their candidates on issues important to Catholics. The election is Nov. 3. The guide can be found on the Conference website at www.vacatholic.org. The Voters' Guide consists of a Virginia map that highlights the 60 total contested Senate and House races. It also provides a summary of the seven key themes of Catholic Social Teaching, a list of suggested questions to ask candidates, and a link to candidates' email addresses. The Conference uses the seven themes when developing positions on various legislative proposals.
